

Montpelier Nov. 26. 1854

Mr. Marsh,

The legislature adjourned this morning at 6 o'clock after a nights session. A heated discussion was the feature of the whole night. Many propositions was offered by each branch, but all more or less ~~turned~~ turned on the bond. They used their whole time in discussion and at last they adjourned without making any provision whatever for appropriations. Everything is at a complete stand still. What will be done I know not. My committee did me good service. Four of the five agreed to a report which I will send you. We got it in so very late that the time for printing was more nothing and verbal inaccuracies exist in it. As a whole it answers our purpose well. They
